

Editorial Independence Policy

Carver County Local News subscribes to the editorial independence standards adopted by the Institute for Nonprofit News. We maintain a firewall between news coverage decisions and all sources of revenue. This separation ensures that financial support does not present a conflict of interest for its journalism or compromise its editorial independence.

Gifts, grants, and sponsorships from individuals and organizations help to fund our nonprofit journalism, but our news judgments are made independently and not based on donor support. Acceptance of financial support does not constitute implied or actual endorsement of donors or their positions.

Carver County Local News may accept financial support for reporting on particular topics. Our editorial staff determines those topics and retains full editorial control of the resulting coverage.

Individual contributors do not accept gifts or favors of more than nominal value, nor any special treatment, from any person or entity that is or could be a subject of or source for our coverage, or otherwise have an interest in Carver County Local News reporting.

Editorial copy is never shared with anyone, including donors, prior to publication.

Carver County Local News publicly lists all donors who give $1,000 or more per year. We accept anonymous donations only when sufficient safeguards have been put in place to ensure that our editorial staff spends the donation independently and in compliance with standards established by the Institute for Nonprofit News.